Praise for PAUL GILDING and THE GREAT DISRUPTION

"One of those who has been warning me [about a climate crisis] for a long time is Paul Gilding, the Australian environmental business expert. He has a name for this moment—when both Mother Nature and Father Greed have hit the wall at once—'The Great Disruption.'"

—THOMAS L. FRIEDMAN IN THE NEW YORK TIMES

"We're in the rapids now, heading for the falls, too late to swim for shore. But Paul Gilding offers some excellent insights into how we might weather that which we can no longer completely prevent—and how we can still prevent that which we won't be able to weather. If you're planning to stick around for the twenty-first century, this might be a useful book to consult."

—BILL McKIBBEN, AUTHOR OF EAARTH, AND FOUNDER OF 350.ORG

"Gilding offers a clear-eyed and moving assessment of our predicament, but more important, he offers a plausible way forward and good reasons to think we will rise to the occasion. His message is that our situation is dire, but we will act because we must. Essential reading."

—DAVID W. ORR, PAUL SEARS DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES AND POLITICS AT OBERLIN COLLEGE, AND AUTHOR OF HOPE IS AN IMPERATIVE AND DOWN TO THE WIRE

"Gilding's confidence in our ability to transform disaster into a 'happiness economy' may astonish readers, but the book provides a refreshing, provocative alternative to the recent spate of gloom-and-doom climate-change studies."—PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

"A leading advocate for action on climate change [offers] . . . a remarkably optimistic view of the brave new world in our future."—KIRKUS REVIEWS
